PROFESSIONAL BODYCAM SOLUTIONS

With ZEPCAM You'll Never work alone

Firefighters and rescue services risk their lives daily to save people and their property. They can experience unexpected obstruction, aggression or violent escalations. Yearly thousands of firefighters in many countries face the risk of incidents and assault. Bodycam systems provide the team with a tool for de-escalation, support, evidence collection, and actionable data for training and evaluation.

Livestreaming offers instant communication and support when necessary. The ZEPCAM T3 Live has livestreaming capabilities supporting real-time oversight, coordination and direct communication. If aggressors attempt to interfere, the system provides the brigade with undisputable legal evidence for prosecution.

Those in the emergency services can never fully know or expect what they will find; at a patient's house, on the street or in a hospital. Over 70% of paramedics in several studied countries experience verbal or physical abuse during their careers. Bodycams lead to better, safer and more rewarding working conditions for everyone. The bodycam records and supports what has been seen, heard and experienced by frontline medical professionals, with undisputable legal evidence for prosecution. They also prevent and record any interference or aggression of bystanders or relatives, ensuring the patient can receive the care they need.

Livestreaming bodycam systems facilitate efficient central coordination, communication and support for optimal care.
